

PREMISES STRUCTURE

Fact sheet No:4

Why is the structure of my food premises important?

Premises which are well constructed with appropriate materials and in good repair:

- Protect the meat from external contamination by providing a barrier
- Protect the meat from internal contamination by
  - Separating dirty procedures from clean processes
  - Making cleaning easier so dirt and germs are removed
- prevent the food being contaminated by parts of the premises such as flaking paint or material from broken structures
